HABLE BROTHERS

OVERCOAT DEPARTMENT.

NORTHWEST CORNER SEVENTH AND D STS., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Realizing the necessity for some marked improvement in style, quality and variety in this line of goods, we have made an early start, carefully studying the wants and tastes of our trade, and have now a selection of OVERCOATS that in all cardinal points surpasses anything of the kind ever praviously collected in any one house.

Brothers OVERCOAT DEPARTMENT,

NORTHWEST COSSER SEVENTH AND D STREETS, N. W. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Great care has been taken in the get-up of our Overcouts this season, trimmings and work nanship all being first class, and of perfectly reliable quality, the finest and the cheapest garment being equally well and substantially made. Every Overcoat in our immonse assortment has been well and thoroughly shrunk.

Brothers OVERCOAT DEPARTMENT,

NORTHWEST CORNER SEVENTH AND DST3., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Some idea may be formed of the extent and variety of our stock of Overcouts from the fact that there are some two handred varieties, numbering about 2,500 Overcosts, ranging in price from $50 down to $5. Movery style of he me and foreign made goods are embraced, including medium and heavy weight Beaver and other styles of smooth face cloths, and everything new and desirable in Fur Beavers.

JANNEY'S WHARF.

MEDICINAL.

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person (about three gatlons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Bilieusness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MER-RELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown, dirty locking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappeer. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking Hepatine in accordance with directions. This important organ weighs but about tain by taking Hepatine in accordance with directions. Hesdache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no discase that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given. Take no pills when you can get Hepatine at the same price. RHEUMATISM IS A DISEASE OF THE BLOOD.

The blood in this disease, is found to contain an excess of fibrin. VEGETINE acts by converting the blood from its diseased condition to a healthy circulation. VEGETINE regulstes the bowels which is very important in this complaint. One bottle of Vegetine will give ETINE is sold by all dauggists. Try it and your verdict will be the same as that of thousands before you, who say, "In ever found so much relief as from the use of VEGFTINE," which is composed exclusively of Barks, Roots

"VECKTINE," says a Boston physician, "has no equal as a blood puriller. Hearing of its many wonderful cures, after all other remedies had failed, I visited the Laboratory, and con-vinced myself of its genuise merit. A Parliamentary Incident in France. Anybody who has seriously attempted to study French character must have come out of the encounter in a very dezed and perplexed state of mind. It is true that we get many, if attacks were quite often. I suffered everything that a man could. Over three years ago last spring I commenced taking VEGETINE, and followed it up until I had taken seven bottles; have had no rhoughliss since that time. I all interests the seven bottles; have had no rheumatism since that time. I al- in spite of grateful recollections of Revolution-ways advise every one that is troubled with ary aid and comfort; but, even without the coloring which these circumstances often give to the subject, and allowing for the difference between Parisian and provincial character, it can hardly be denied that the French present a strange and confusing combination of qualities to curious American eyes. Perhaps nothing so thoroughly illustrates French character as their parliamentary manners. A recent scene in the House of Deputies is worthy of reproduction for its thorough absurdity. On the 7th of November an investigating committee (it seems that even in France they are afflicted with these evils) which had been appointed to examine into the election of M. de Cassagnae was making its report. The chair bottics was fully restored to health.

I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism.
I have taken several bottles of the VECHTINE for this complaint, and am happy to say it has entirely cured me. I have recommended the VECHTINE to others with the same good results. It is a great cleanear and purifier of the sults. It is a great cleanear and purifier of the blood, it is pleasant to take and I can cheerfully man of the committee was reading some documents, when one of the deputies, in a belliggreat tone, demanded to knew "who cartified to those papers." A member of the committee replied: "The investigating committee." At this M. DeCassegnae roared out: "I will take this M. DeCassegnae roared out: "I will take the committee replied to the committee replied to these papers." neither calumnies nor lies from that source." The member of the committee tartly replied. "We shall see from your own words presently who has been lying." At this juncture the President of the Chamber seemed to have an inkling that something personal was going on,

and with characteristic French politeness eu-deavored to smooth over the offair by saying that the gentlemen simply referred to those wicked documents and not to each other. M. De Cassagnac, however, was in no mood relief; but, to effect a permanent cure, it must be taken regularly, and may take several bottles, especially in cases of long standing. VEG rerd made the report undoubtedly; it's a falsererd made the report undoubtedly; it's a false-hood and a forgers." M. De Cassagnao's inflammable words so acted upon the excitable nature of M. Rouher, an Imperialist deputy, that he gave utterance to his intense feelings by some violent exclamation which was taken in such high dulgeon by a republican member across the room, who had doubtless been anxiously watching him and longing for an opporunity to penace upon him, that he rushed at him, and steroly told him to shut up. M Rouher's colleague came to his assistance, and pounded in such a manner as to produce as- shaking his fist under the Republican's nose, in vited him politely to "come on." The Republican, however, did not come on, and so the terrible scrimmage ended in words. Presently when M. De Cassagnae showed a disposition to investigate the investigators, and asked where they had gotten money for their expenses, M.

Perin replied with great asperity: "You must not address a question like that to me, or, I tell you plainly, I shall take it up. At present, I simply wish to know, do you wish to make this a personal matter between you and me?' To which M. De Cassagnao: You know that the word 'provocation' came from your side. I will add that my questionwis a personal provocation.' M. Perin repeated: 'I renew my demand; yes or no; do you wish to make this a personal matter between us?' M. De Cassaguac: 'That is not for me to decide.' " For several bours this interesting scene was kept up, varied with all sorts of sarcastic and warlike cries, grouns and derisive laughter .--When a vote was at length attained, M. Da Cassageae was neseated, but nothing daunted by this, as he shock off the dust of the Chamber from his feet, he paused at the door, and defiantly shouted at the top of his voice "au revoir, messieurs." He was answered by a how! from his opposents in the Chamber, and so the "iseldeat," as the French papers called t, was over. In spite of scores like this, which remind one more of a Western Legislature than a grave, deliberative assembly, in cultivated France, the business that comes before the Chamber of Deputies is transacted thoroughly and carefully, and on all important subjects there is found to be a great dea! of method and sound sense combined with their apparent madness. In this country scenes like that to which we have referred would be fellowed up by something of a graver character. But the French Deputies pour upon each other's heads perfect floods of vituperation and abuse, and, after the occasion has passed think no more about the matter, or, if wounded honor demands reparation, they go out and shoot at each other at safe distances, or draw a drop of blood from the arm, and thus honorably end the quarrel. And yet, nobody can question their courage, for a cowardly Frenchman is a phenomenal object in nature. Intensely sentimental, and at the same time intensely practical, hereically brave, and yet, at times, strangely discreet, so scrupulously polite, as to have become a synonym for courtesy, and yet, in their legislative deliberations, so rude that angry fishwomen might take lessons from them in billingsgate; excitable and emotional as barbarous savages, and yet, the most refined, cultivated nation of Europe, the French present a problem in character which is a source of perpetual astonishment to less versatile and complex peoples. - Baltimore Bulletin, Secretary Sherman's report. Resumption of specie payment being accomplished, it is further necessary to economize by buying Dealham's clothing. MR. ISAAC EICHBERG is again on the alert. Mr. Henry Schwarz went to Baltimore this morning to attend a large and special sale of Cloaks. Last of the season. Look out for a
